

CUSTODIAL ENGINEER

- JANITOR Yes. But you know what it does offer?
- MAN No. What does it offer?
- JANITOR It offers security. It offers medical, dental, pension plan, personal office, personal assistant, parking spot, company car, petty cash, paid vacation, education, coffee break, lunch break, uniform (they pay for dry cleaning) and my very own personal broom.
- MAN So you're a janitor?
- JANITOR Custodial engineer.
- MAN What do you do?
- JANITOR I sweep floors.
- MAN I can sweep floors.
- JANITOR Yes. But you're not qualified.
- MAN You hold the broom. You push the broom. The broom pushes dirt. You pick up the dirt and throw it out. Is there something I'm missing here?
- JANITOR The heavy equipment-operating license. The broom is a self-propelled scrubber, waxer, polisher dirt retrieval system. It can travel up to speeds of 2 M.P.H.. You have to keep on top of this baby or she might get away from you.
- MAN And what would happen if it got away from you?
- JANITOR It could clean an area you didn't mean to.
- MAN So you don't even push the broom? What do you do? Follow behind it?
- JANITOR I operate in a supervisory capacity.

For the entire skit contact me at me@johnmcgie.com.