

ENDEARMENTS

LADY 1 Did he go under here?

LADY 2 No, no, no, no. I don't think so.

LADY 1 You really must be more careful. This is the third one this week.

LADY 2 I know. Things always start out so well and then they go and jump out a window or something.

LADY 1 Well, what did you say?

LADY 2 What do you mean?

LADY 1 You must have said something.

LADY 2 Nothing.

LADY 1 Nothing?

LADY 2 No.

LADY 1 No?

LADY 2 No. (beat) Well...I might have said "snuggle".

LADY 1 Snuggle?!

LADY 2 Snuggle.

LADY 1 Well, no wonder.

LADY 2 I couldn't help myself.

LADY 1 Anything else?

LADY 2 No.

LADY 1 No?

LADY 2 Well...I might have said "peck".

LADY 1 Peck?

LADY 2 Peck on the cheek. "Give us a nice peck on the cheek" I might have said.

LADY 1 You said that?

LADY 2 I might have. Yes.

LADY 1 I didn't realize it was so bad.

LADY 2 It's not that big a deal. I know lots of people who do it.

LADY 1 You're fooling yourself. These aren't recreational endearments you're throwing around. It's not like "dear", "honey" or "sweetheart". You're using the heavier stuff now.

For the entire skit contact me at me@johnmcgie.com.