

GEORGE AND HELEN

SFX: A clock ticks in the background throughout.

HELEN George, do you ever regret not having children?
GEORGE Hmm...oh, that's nice, dear.
HELEN George...
GEORGE I'm sorry, Helen. What'd you say?
HELEN Children...do you ever regret not having any?
GEORGE Honestly?
HELEN Honestly.
GEORGE Honestly, I don't know.
HELEN Wouldn't you have liked to have heard the sound of little feet running about the house?
GEORGE Little feet don't thrill me.
HELEN A child to carry on the proud name of George Branston.
GEORGE What if we had a girl?
HELEN Grandchildren!
GEORGE Humph.
HELEN Just think George, in our later years, when we're old and grey...
GEORGE Helen, have you seen us lately?
HELEN Oh, they'd be so beautiful.
GEORGE They'd probably be illegitimate.
HELEN Oh, George, why didn't we ever have children?
GEORGE Probably because we've never had sex.
HELEN That would do it, huh?
