MR ONE: Gentlemen and token mandatory minorities and incompetents. Today I must speak to you on a most grievous matter. But first, the state of the arts in this country.

MR TWO: Here. Here. Well said. Lunch.

MR THREE: Seconded.

MR ONE: (bringing gavel down) Carried. Now on to other business. The Arts.

MR TWO: What? Again?

MR THREE: I feel we've pretty well covered it, don't you?

MR TWO: Committee.

MR THREE: Committee.

MR ONE: Gentlemen, we are the committee. We are the special committee looking into the state of the arts in this country.

MR TWO: I must object.

MR THREE: How could a thing like this happen?
